

Not designed to suit all

Find out if you're fit for GIBBS

Do you have the drive, desire and capacity to create promising ventures from innovative bioscience research? Göteborg International Bioscience Business School provides tomorrow's entrepreneurial leaders with the skills and support they need to succeed.

GIBBS is an interdisciplinary master level program in bioscience business development, with hands-on experience from business development of real-life innovation projects. The 2 year full-time master's program integrates practical experience and theoretical expertise in bioscience entrepreneurship and innovation management, with in-depth understanding of product development processes in the biotech and pharmaceutical industry. GIBBS provides a comprehensive understanding of key strategic issues in the bioscience industry.

Want to know more? Meet, listen and interact with GIBBS-alumni and current GIBBS-students telling you about their GIBBS-experiences.

Date: October 10

Time: 15-17

Where: Wallenberg Konferenscenter, Göteborg.

The seminar is free of charge but registration is required and made online at www.goteborgbio.se. After the seminar we will be offering a light buffet and the opportunity to network and ask more questions.

GIBBS is an international program and the teaching language is English, which is why this presentation will be given in English.

Please note that the number of seats is limited.
